

U. N. TROOPS WITHDRAW ACROSS TONGCHU RIVER AT HUNGNAM TO COMPRESS NORTHEAST KOREAN BEACHHEAD; DEFENSE ARC REMAINS FIRM

Massive Buildup of North Korean Forces Noted In South

F86 SABRE JETS ACTIVE

Two MIGs Are Routed; One Considerably Damaged

SEOUL, Dec. 21.—(INS)—United Nations troops withdrew across the Tongchu river at Hungnam today to compress their northeast Korean beachhead still further but their defense arc remained firm.

Far to the south, a massive buildup of North Korean forces was noted five miles north of the 38th Parallel after the Reds were stopped in a 36-hour assault in a sector 45 miles northeast of Seoul.

Another North Korean Red column knifed into South Korea from the northwest, occupying the rail junction of Kaesong, two miles south of the Parallel.

South Korean patrols engaged units of this enemy force southeast of Kaesong at a point less than 20 miles northwest of Seoul, the Korean republic's menaced capital.

In the air war, American F-86 Sabre-jets, the world's fastest known planes, fought a third duel with Russian-made MIG-15 jets over northwest Korea Thursday.

Two of the Sabres routed two MIGs, damaging one. Then six more MIGs from Manchuria trailed the two Sabres as the latter headed home, but the enemy jets made no attack.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, meanwhile, announced that the UN forces, excluding South Korean units, suffered 12,975 battle casualties between November 27th and December 12th.

In a communique issued from his Tokyo headquarters, the supreme commander assailed what he termed "unofficial persistent speculative casualty reports." He said these impart an "artificial nuance of disaster" that has been given to the UN military operations.

The total combat casualties of the non-Korean UN forces in the five and a half months since the war began, MacArthur said, "have not even approximated battle losses."

Feasterville Woman Dies; Taken From Burning Home

The aged woman who was taken from her home in Feasterville early Tuesday morning, suffering from exposure and inhalation of smoke died in the Nazareth Hospital yesterday.

The victim, Mrs. Carrie Dickinson, Fernbrook avenue and Bristol road, lived alone and it is believed that while she was making coffee an oil stove set fire to the house.

Mrs. Dickinson's affairs were little known in the community and the authorities had arranged for her to be taken to the Bucks County Home, when her condition warranted her removal from the hospital.

There were rumors that she had a large estate but this is believed to be untrue. Following her death the body was removed to the Philadelphia morgue and then later to the funeral home of J. Maurice Tomlinson, Cornwells Heights.

The effort to locate relatives of the deceased continues by the authorities.

Boy Scout Troop No. 48 Enjoys A Jolly Evening

A jolly Christmas party was participated in by members of Boy Scout troop No. 48, Bristol Terrace, at the Terrace 1 community building, Monday evening.

Twenty-five were present including four members of the troop committee, and James Trembley, as honored guest from Troop two.

The group sang a series of songs from Camp Ockanickon, and Christmas songs.

A few skits were staged adding gaiety to the occasion and remarks were made by each of the following committee members present: C. J. Kennedy, institutional representative; Albert Quillen, treasurer; James Carroll, Jr., Merit badge counselor; and Julius Pollard, advancement chairman.

The scouts presented tie emblems to all committee members. Mr. Quillen presented each boy with a scout calendar after which Santa distributed gifts.

Refreshments of ice-cream, cake and candy were served.

DOYLESTOWN TO HAVE PLANNING SYSTEM

Commission May Be Formed Sometime Early Next Year

ASSESSMENTS GAIN

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 21.—Members of borough council have been informed that the creation of a planning commission for this borough may be taken up early in 1951. The announcement was made by G. Thawley Hayman.

"We have been talking for a year or more about forming a planning commission, and I believe it would be very desirable to form one next year," Councilman Hayman said. "Several citizens of the community have requested a commission and I have asked one member of Council to look into the matter for us, with the idea of getting one or more townships to co-operate."

Carols and Music Feature PTA Meeting

NEWTOWN, Dec. 21.—The Newtown township Parent-Teacher association held its regular monthly meeting in the Good Intent school building, Monday evening with the president, William B. Shull, in charge of the meeting.

A program of Christmas music was presented and carols enjoyed by the group, also a skit by members of the executive committee under the direction of Mrs. Helen Randle.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Willard Greb and Mrs. Luther Jones.

Friday morning, a Christmas party is to be given both the township schools at the Good Intent school, at which time George Ghebeles will be on hand to perform his magic. This party is under the auspices of the Parent Teacher association.

The Senate overwhelmingly passed a bill combining a 77 per cent excess profits tax with an increase in regular corporate levies. Today, conferees will seek to reconcile it with the House bill.

A Senate committee approved a bill adding $20,197,000,000 to defense funds already voted and the House authorized $1,600,000,000 to strengthen bases at home and abroad. Today the House debates a bill granting the President all the emergency powers he asked while the Senate considers a measure granting only powers to renegotiate.

The Government rejected a General Motors plea against the price freeze on new cars, asked manufacturers for at least a week's notice of future price increases and went ahead with plans for further controls despite criticism from labor and industry.

Organized labor dropped its opposition to wage controls but told President Truman "wage stabilization must not become wage freezing" and pay must be adjusted to rising food prices and rents. The President signed the bill extending Federal rent controls.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 21.—(INS)—Fear of unseen death mounted in Philadelphia today among citizens shocked by another nocturnal strike by a phantom sniper who mocked the greatest manhunt in the city's history.

In the second ambush shooting of the day, 16-year-old George Haller was wounded in the left shoulder last night as he strolled along a street in the Frankford section of North Philadelphia.

The boy was released after treatment at Episcopal hospital. He was the victim of the 13th shooting in six weeks.

The latest foray by the "mad gunman" occurred nearly five miles from the Oak Lane home where Mrs. Claire Cohen was fatally shot while washing dishes last Saturday night.

Earlier yesterday, Richard C. Lavery, 54, a Republican committeeman, fell critically injured by a bullet from a sniper on a south Philadelphia sidewalk.

Thus virtually every section of Philadelphia and parts of adjacent Montgomery county have now become the grim nightly "beat" of the cunning gunman.

Service of thousands of members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in the spectacular manhunt have been offered to authorities by J. Howard Berry, commander of the VFW Philadelphia council.

TRUST FUND IS SET UP IN WILL FOR HOUSEKEEPER

Sylvester Dana, Morrisville, Also Leaves Instructions For Burial

NOT TO BE EMBALMED

Letters Are Granted in Numerous Other Estates of Bucks Countians

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 21.—A trust fund for benefit of his housekeeper, was created through the will of Sylvester Dana, Morrisville. Mr. Dana had left explicit burial instructions also in his will. He had specified that he did not wish his body embalmed, and that the undertaker in charge should keep him long enough to be positive that he was dead.

Other instructions left by the one who died Nov. 13th, were that no minister be called for service, no prayers offered, that there be no music nor flowers, and added that he did not wish friends to act as bearers. He did not want to be exposed to public view.

The Morrisville testator, who wrote his will June 18, 1948, created a trust fund in the Trenton (N. J.) Trust Company for the benefit of his housekeeper, Emma Elizabeth Sprague, of Morrisville.

He directed that if there is money enough left she should have her burial expenses paid, and stipulated that after the death of the housekeeper W. Harry Bloor, Pennington, N. J., be named the beneficiary of the residue.

The personal estate was valued at $7,599 and real estate, valued at $10,000, consists of one-half interest in 32 acres in Lower Makefield township on the Morrisville-Yardley-Ferry roads.

Mary W. Blanche, 1529 Wilson avenue, Bristol, was granted letters of administration in the estate of Leonard J. Blanche, Bristol, amounting to an estate of $3,000. The decedent died October 18.

CONGRESS WILL MISS THEM

With the reorganization of Congress at the turn of the year, Pennsylvania will lose the service of three outstanding Republican Congressmen who have left their trademark carved deep on public events.

In the order of their seniority, these retiring Congressmen are:

ROBERT F. RICH, of Woolrich, Pa., representing the 15th District, or Cameron, Clinton, Lycoming, McKean, Potter and Tioga counties. He has been the dean of the Pennsylvania delegation in total service, having served, with one two-year interruption, since the 71st (1929) session. His twenty years push him up among the veterans of Congress, and he would have rated somewhere near 30th in the new session. There are those with more than twice his service, including Congressman Sabath of Illinois who has served since 1907, and Congressman Doughton of North Carolina, 1911—but after all, there are only a handful of these "early settlers."

Congressman Rich has been a dependable and loyal Republican during all the trying years since the birth of the Depression. He is best known for his persistent question asked of the New Dealers as they have brought in their billion-dollar spending programs: "Where are you going to get the money?" After many futile attempts to answer this question with some reply other than "printing-press dollars" or "inflation," the Democrats have taken refuge in recent years in jesting about it. The fact remains that no valid answer has ever been given—and even if the American people continue to be casual about the matter, one of these days the same question will be asked by Old Man Economics in tones which cannot be ignored.

JOHN C. KUNKEL, of Harrisburg, representing the 18th District, or Dauphin, Cumberland and Lebanon counties. Congressman Kunkel has served since 1939, six terms, or a total of twelve years, which gave him a tie

FOSSIL FIND

University of Kansas paleontologists report discovery of fossil bones of ancient mammals from which sprang monkeys, apes and finally man. One find is the best preserved skull known of a mouse-size creature to which, over a period of 60,000,000 years, the human race can trace its ancestry.

Discoveries were made in New Mexico in rocks of the middle paleocene geological era. It was during that era that these obscure mammals were slowly evolving from a reptilian ancestry. The bones in question apparently came from creatures related to toads and salamanders. This find is important because these creatures have left few fossils.

There must always be doubt, though, about the exactitude of interpretations placed on fossils which are as far away in time as some great stars are in light years. It is recalled that a couple of decades ago some great savants from several countries announced discovery in Java of a skull that solved a missing link in the evolutionary process. This news came with much fanfare. Later it was revealed that the "skull" had proved to be the kneecap of an elephant.

Now wasn't that the pachyderm's patella!

NOT SHORN OF ALL POWER

Although obviously far-reaching in its effects, the Supreme Court's decision in the Blau case does not entirely destroy the government's power to wage war on communists and communist organizations in this country. Witnesses in criminal trials may refuse to answer questions about their communist affiliations but only on the basis of possible self-incrimination.

There is nothing in the ruling of the court to comfort others who have been claiming that their civil rights were invaded when they were asked if they were or had been members of the communist party.

The Fifth Amendment to the Constitution, which the court now upholds again, refers only to criminal cases. It makes no reference to investigations by congressional committees. It may be assumed, therefore, that the courts still have the authority to punish those persons—like the Hollywood screen writers—who made free speech the issue in their refusal to testify on certain points before duly constituted committees of Congress.

That the decision of the court will make it more difficult for the government to obtain convictions in some communist cases is apparent. That it will weaken, if not invalidate, sections of the new McCarran Communist Control Law is likewise a possibility. Congress may be compelled to forge different weapons to protect the nation against the enemies within its borders.

Citizens who expressed doubt early in November that this would be much of a winter now regret their brashness.

PENSIONS

VIENNA, (INS) — Black bread is expected to solve one of post-war Europe's greatest problems—inflation. Members of Salzburg's medical association must be decorated with the reward for this outstanding discovery. After weeks of endless debates, ingenious Austrian physicians decided that pensioned colleagues will receive a monthly pension equivalent to the price of 550 pounds of black bread. Presently, this means 35 American dollars.

TERMITE TROUBLES

NEW YORK — (INS) — The lowly termite's daily diet is limited but his terrific appetite for wood is costing the American homeowner millions of dollars annually. No definite figures of the yearly cost of feeding the little white ant are available, according to a Title Council of America report, but rough estimates by qualified experts place the property loss between $100,000,000 and $200,000,000.

Tells of Aid Station On Wheels for Army

WITH THE U. S. SECOND INFANTRY DIVISION IN KOREA—It is undisputed that the American Army is the most mobile army in the world. Now through the ingenuity of several medics, there is a mobile aid station.

Medics of the Ninth Regimental Combat Team of the Second Infantry Division obtained their own vehicle and built the mobile aid station mostly from the "donations" of the North Korean Communists.

M/Sgt. Paul E. Riess, 32, husband of Mrs. Emma Gaulane Riess, 342 Jefferson avenue, Bristol, Pa., and son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Riess, Old Lincoln Highway, Langhorne, Pa., NCO in charge of the battalion aid station, related the origin of the aid station on wheels.

"It was in the Chinju area that we first got the desire for a mobile aid station, and shortly after that we came upon an abandoned North Korean two and a half ton truck which we had the mechanics put into running condition for us."

"We ran it that way for a while but kept adding to it. One day we found a lot of ply wood. We built sides and a roof for our aid station. Later on we found some first grade lumber. We built cabinets, and tables, and stands. We got some batteries and a seal beam light and now we have our own power plant and lighting system so the medical officer can work at night without fear of sudden blackness from generator failure."

"Now we have everything in the mobile aid station—blood plasma, litters, blankets and of course medicines and bandages. If we are treating a patient and the order comes to move out, we can continue to work on him as we roll along. At night it takes us about ten minutes to get everything together and be on the road, but in the daytime we can do it faster. Just jump into the truck and drive off, aid station, patients and all."

Capt. Gene Lam, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Lam, Glenrock, Wyo., and wife, June Lam, who is waiting with their boy and two girls at Ft. Campbell, Ky., for the doctor's return, is commanding officer of this section.

Sgt. Riess; Sgt. Robert L. Pelletier, 27, husband of Mrs. Francis Devins Pettetier, Palmotte avenue, Tyngsboro, Mass., and Cpl. Chester Crabtree, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Crabtree, Welch, West Virginia, built the station.

"We also have a 'Pack Board Aid Station' for over rough terrain," Capt. Lam said, and a "Medical Chest Aid Station" so that the unit can be split up into small units mounted on two or more jeeps.

Miss Truman May Get A Contract for Over $100,000

NEW YORK, N. Y., Dec. 21—Negotiations are under way for a contract between Margaret Truman and the National Broadcasting Company, it was announced yesterday by Charles C. Barry, vice-president in the programming department of N. B. C.

Mr. Barry said that both sides seemed near an agreement that would call upon the President's daughter to make guest appearances on both radio and television. It was indicated that she might perform as both a singer and comedienne.

Though Mr. Barry refused to confirm reports that the contract might pay Miss Truman some $200,000 a year, he admitted that, were she able to work once a week for a year, she would make considerably more than her father, whose salary is $100,000.

Lions Club Presents Boy Scouts With Gifts

ANDALUSIA, Dec. 21—On Monday evening, the Boy Scouts held the annual Christmas party, sponsored by the Andalusia Lions club.

The boys witnessed a movie entitled "Eat-em-alive." Group singing was led by John Ferguson, Lions representative. The boys brought cartons of cigarettes which are to be taken to the naval hospital in Philadelphia on Tuesday, doing this instead of exchanging gifts. Each boy received a pen and a box of candy from the Lions club and a Boy Scout calendar from F. A. Simons and Company. Scoutmaster James Pettit received gifts from the boys. The party was well attended by Boy Scouts and their parents. On Wednesday evening the Scouts will hold "Court of Honor" at the cabin. The public is invited.

LITTLE STINKERS

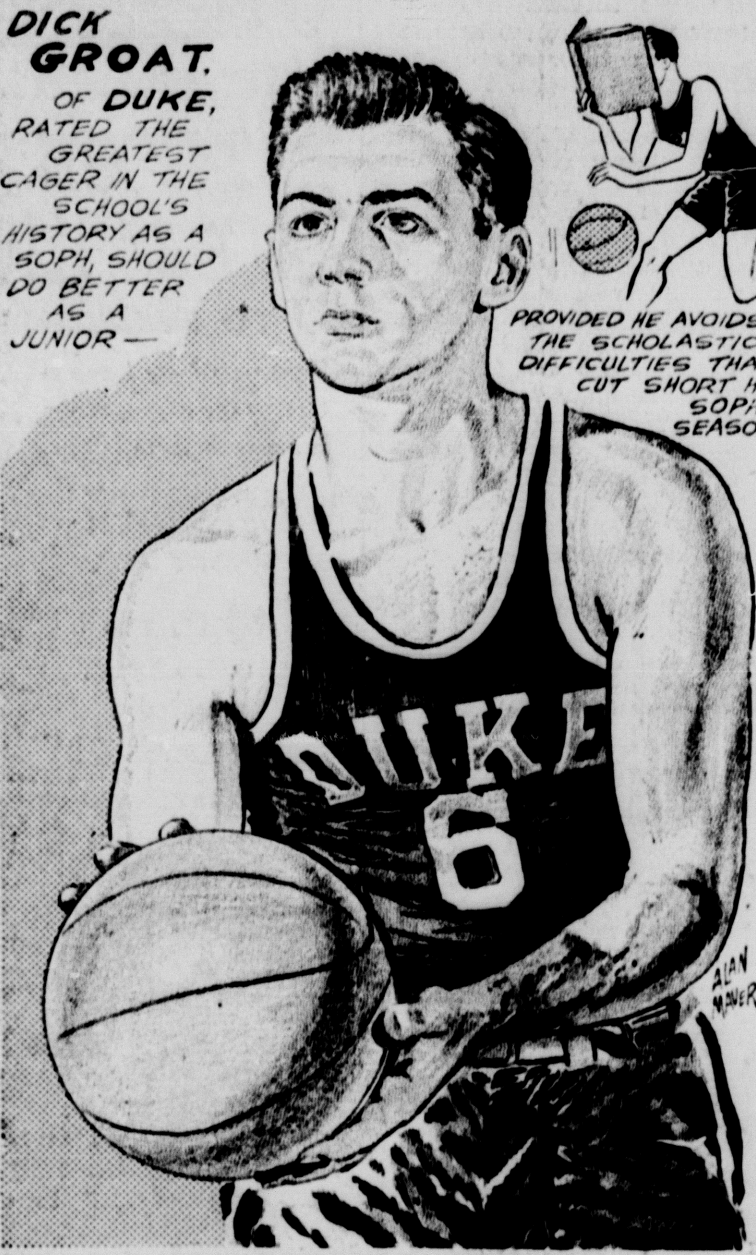

THE DALLES, Ore.—(INS)—Roy Jewell of The Dalles became a member of the "Little Stinkers" and was presented with the original little stinker, Rosebud—a young skunk. The state president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles had to accept Rosebud when his group at The Dalles fell below its membership quota. Penalty for this is possession of the housebroken and deodorized pet until the quota is filled.

The tallest living tree in the U. S. is a California coast redwood, 364 feet tall, located on North Dyerville Flat, Humboldt State Redwood Park, California.

Fear of Unseen Death Mounts in Philadelphia

in as many members of the VFW as are needed as auxiliary policemen. A survey last night indicated that private citizens who had joined the search as vigilantes had abandoned their nightly patrols.

By night, streets were becoming increasingly deserted as worried citizens remained indoors. Many persons were restricting their Christmas shopping to the daylight hours.

Department store deliverymen reported that in some cases jittery householders refused to come to the door after dark to accept packages. A few all-night restaurants in certain locations complained that business was falling off.

Rising tension among Philadelphians was demonstrated when reporters telephoned homes in Frankford last night to obtain initial information about the Haller shooting.

"We're not interested in looking out the windows these nights," one woman replied as she slammed down the telephone receiver.

Dozens of calls from alarmed persons poured into police headquarters. The "shootings" turned out in the main to be banging garage doors, automobile backfires, inquisitive cats and the like.

Last night's shooting followed the pattern of the previous incidents which resulted in Mrs. Cohen's death and the wounding of several other persons.

Haller told detectives he suddenly felt a sharp stinging sensation and a "tug" at his shoulder. He saw no flash and heard no report of a weapon, the police said.

Police stated an examination indicated Haller had been struck by a bullet fired from a .22-caliber rifle—the same type as that used in Saturday night's slaying.

Detectives expressed belief the sniper may be using a telescopic lens to bring his victims into sharp focus.

Sixty small-bore weapons have been confiscated by police for tests in ballistics laboratories. Also being examined was another bullet found yesterday in the kitchen of the home where Mrs. Cohen was killed. The fatal missile pierced a closed Venetian blind.

CUB SCOUTS

ANDALUSIA, Dec. 21—On Tuesday, Den 4, Andalusia Cub Scouts, held a regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Paul Schauberg. The meeting opened with the "Cross Opening," led by Den Chief Frank Martin. The boys wrapped the Christmas gifts they had made for their mothers. Dues were collected and games were played and the boys exchanged "Pollyanna" gifts. Refreshments, which some of the parents sent to the meeting, consisted of home-made cake and punch. Each boy received a candy cane. The meeting closed with the Cub promise, motto, and law.

QUAKERTOWN HOSPITAL
JOINS THE BLUE CROSS*Bucks County Institution
Becomes 73rd Member
Hospital*EFFECTIVE DEC. 15TH

Quakertown community hospital became the 73rd member hospital in the Philadelphia area's Blue Cross plan it was announced today by E. A. van Steenwyk, executive director of the Association Hospital service, of Philadelphia.

Effective Dec. 15 Blue Cross subscribers, many hundreds of whom live in the North Penn Valley, will be entitled to full member-hospital benefits.

Member hospital status embodies approval of standards by the American Hospital Association and the American College of Surgeons. Four thousand hospitals, with 85 per cent of all general hospital beds in the United States, are Blue Cross member hospitals.

"In order to better serve Blue Cross subscribers within the 10 to 15-mile area around Quakertown, which the hospital serves, many of whom are enrolled at their places of employment in Philadelphia, we are pleased to announce this news," said C. William Freed, president of the hospital's board of directors.

Mr. Freed also called attention to the reciprocity program of all Blue Cross plans under which the hospitals provide service benefits to other Blue Cross Plans' subscribers. Mr. Freed especially referred to employees of firms in the Lehigh Valley, who are members of the Hospital Service plan of Lehigh Valley.

The Quakertown hospital, which was built through public subscriptions of $170,000 first opened its doors on March 31, 1930. It is a 61-bed, 17-basinet, completely modern hospital with a staff of 31 doctors, 33 nurses and 35 other employees.

Subscribers hospitalized in a member hospital are covered for such costs as semi-private room and board, general nursing service, use of drugs listed in the standard pharmacopoeias, oxygen and the use of the operating room. In addition, they receive liberal benefits in X-ray and laboratory examinations, metabolism tests, and electrocardiograms.

A fixed amount is paid against the bill of the subscriber, who is a patient in a non-member hospital.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

By FULTON LEWIS, JR.
(Copyright, 1950
King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—There was a lot of wind blowing over the hill when Senator Tydings, of Maryland, investigated Communists in the Government along with the much more basic accusation that our State Department practiced what the Communists preached.

One little whiff that probably got by you is about to be stirred up again here, and if it lacks in fragrance just consider the source.

The Kremlin's old master plotter, Earl Browder, who caddged a few bucks recently from a widow so he could make bail and stay out of jail, was speaking his piece before the Tydings Committee that was set up to keep Senator Joe McCarthy from tearing the Administration apart. He spilled more than most of us realized at the time, except a couple of President Truman's errand boys on the committee, who couldn't stop wiggling until Browder had gone back to his New York basement.

Right now a lot of Americans are trying to bring pressure on Mr. Truman to get rid of Secretary of State Acheson. Some of the missiles to the White House were so rough Acheson took off his hair, shirt and cancelled a speaking tour. He was about to tour the country at the taxpayers' expense, to explain the State Department. Like a wise man, he decided to stay home and not risk being stoned to death.

Mr. Truman, however, isn't paying any attention to this pressure from thousands of honest Americans, all of whom want to give Acheson back to the law business. But if you think that pressure from other quarters isn't effective, listen to this recitation by Browder:

"I would say that, further, in 1942, it became unnecessary any longer to bring such pressure upon the Government of the United States, because the officially declared policy from that time until 1946 was the policy the United States pressed upon China, a coalition of the Nationalists, the Communists, and all the democratic mass into one united government."

It might take a minute to inhale all of that, but Browder and his Soviet buddies here in the Government were not dummies. They knew that by 1942 they had sold the State Department on letting up on the Chinese Communists.

Senator Hickenlooper, of Iowa, picked up the questioning of Browder at this point in the committee hearing:

"Now then, you have testified here, as I understand your testimony, that you worked ceaselessly over a period of years, perhaps beginning in the 30's and continuing up until at least 1942, for the adoption of a definite policy on the part of the United States toward China and the Chinese Communists?"

Browder said: "Yes, that is correct."

I want to take it from here for a minute again. That was when Hiss, Pressman, Acheson, Frankfurter and a lot more loose-witted playmates were doing all the loud talking. They had a little "Be Kind to Chinese Communists" club and it wasn't hard to grease old Browder into the White House for a chat with the President or Eleanor.

Hickenlooper can have the stand again:

"The views advocated up to 1942, at least the substance of the important views advocated by the Communist Party up to 1942, were in fact adopted by the State Department toward the Communists in China, at about 1942—is that correct?"

Browder: "In October, 1942."

It's just like that, the way I'm giving it to you from the record. Here is the former mogul of the Muscovites in America spilling party secrets. And if you think Browder didn't know what he was talking about, take a look at China today. Those aren't Chiang Kai-Shek soldiers shooting down Americans in Korea.

Browder is proof enough that the State Department bought the Communist deal for China. Outside of Stalin, there is no higher authority we can put our hands on. The same crowd that bought Browder's Red medicine is still around, running the State Department. And it would be interesting, to say the least, if we could find out today who puts the pressure on to help the White House and State Department make up their collective mind. It isn't us Americans, for sure, or Acheson would be job hunting today.

Double Proof

that Dollar for Dollar you can't beat a Pontiac!

① A look at the Car proves its Quality

② A look at the Price proves its Value!

In the short time since it was presented, thousands of people have flocked to see the great new Silver Anniversary Pontiac—few cars have ever had a reception to equal this. Most people came to admire, which is natural enough. But a great many people do more than admire, they start figuring—they begin to compare this wonderfully beautiful and desirable car with the modest price tag it bears. The conclusion is obvious—no car, at any price, offers more for every new car dollar you invest than a great new Pontiac! Drop in, and look at the car—then look at the price—you'll be doubly sure that dollar for dollar, you can't beat a Pontiac!

If Family Must Move Frequently

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

ALL else being equal, the more new experiences a child (or any body else) has, provided he is not upset or harmed physically, emotionally, the richer his education. Even babies and toddlers who are pampered and overstimulated may develop faster intellectually than if they had been treated more nearly as we "experts" would advise. But these children also learn some things and have some experiences which hamper their emotional growth and development as happy, likable, useful persons.

In normal times many families move to different areas of a city or county or to different parts of the nation. Among such families are those in which the father's special type of work requires frequent moving of his family. Obviously, our defense program is going to increase such moving by families.

New Adjustments

In these families the children may gain greatly in breadth of knowledge and experience if they can make the new adjustments without too great loss emotionally, socially, morally and spiritually. Whereas the oft-moving child of school age can't help but gain considerable general knowledge, he may be greatly handicapped in school learning. The school books, curriculum and teaching methods are different. The strangeness of the whole school and schoolmates can hamper this child not only in his personal and social adjustments but also in his book learning.

As I pointed out in this column some while ago, many of these children, even if they are pretty bright, may fail to acquire good learning habits and useful social conformities. Besides, they, as well as preschool children, may have hard problems of adaptation to new playmates in the home neighborhood. Yet, if the adaptations are fairly successful, these oft-moving children could gain tremendously. It's on the social and emotional side where they most often suffer losses. They certainly need to have sympathetic, understanding parents.

Frequent Moving

A mother writes of her boy, six: "My husband's work necessitates our moving frequently from one state to another, a fact which has given me no concern until now. However, a week ago our boy started school, and now we find we must move."

"How can I help him through the difficult period of readjustment? There was no problem here because, with Sunday School and my club associates, he knew a number of the children in his class and, of course, we had visited the school."

The substance of my personal reply to this mother: With the understanding and appreciative attitude of you parents, this boy should safely and gradually adapt.

Put your emphasis on ways to help him; have more play contacts with other boys of his age, attracting one or two of them at a time to your home, when the father should help them enjoy making things or playing games.
